COLONEL SELLERS AGAIN!

President White Burley Hawkins Makes Another "Proc."

For the benefit of those who are fond of guessing, or who believe all that they hear, or who don't believe anything that they hear and only half what they see, the following is given room in THE LEDGER—

LEXINGTON, Ky., August 28th.—W. B. Hawkins, President of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Company of Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia, who was organized to control the output of the tobacco and fight the Trust, announced at that unless the deficit in the amount to be subscribed was forthcoming by September the Company would be disbanded.

Growers have been asked to subscribe $250,000 worth of stock. The amount so far received does not exceed half this amount. The promoters feel that unless they can rely upon this support by September 1st it will be unwise to undertake the great work of preparing to handle the crop, which must be completed within the next two months.

Last year efforts to get the financial support required were continued until January, and many million pounds held until that time. This year's contracts have been made to expire November 1st provided the Company had not taken the tobacco, and the movement will be abandoned Friday unless all the stock is subscribed.

MANY RELATIVES HERE

William E. Grimes, Once of this City, Died Near Cincinnati

Mr. W. E. Grimes, who some twenty years ago engaged in the furniture business in this city, first occupying the corner now owned by Hon. R. B. Lovel and later moving to the Cox Building adjoining THE LEDGER, died Saturday at his home in Winston Place, Cincinnati, aged 87.

He is survived by a widow and one son, Dr. Fletcher Grimes.

Mr. and Mrs. Grimes were the parents of the late "Joe Grimes," known all over the United States and a large part of Europe, on account of his extraordinary size and weight, the latter over 500 lbs. It was during their residence in this city that Joe began to develop.

Mr. Grimes was a tall but slenderly built man, measuring over six feet and weighing less than 200 pounds. His wife is also of slender build, and they were never able to account for their son's extraordinary weight.

He leaves several relatives in this city and a large number in neighboring counties in Ohio.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from his late home, conducted by the Rev. J. P. Whitehead of the First Presbyterian Church.

TEACHERS INSTITUTE

Pedagogues Enrolled and Proceedings of First Day's Session

The Mason County Teachers' Institute was called to order yesterday morning at 10:30 at the Courthouse by Superintendent C. D. Wells.

After some general remarks Mr. Wells called the teachers' attention to the fact that the Official Program and Syllabus of the state would be followed during the week with the changes which he had made.

Prof. W. T. Berry was elected Secretary. The following teachers were enrolled—Mrs. Lida Calvert, Helena Station. Elizabeth Murphy, Charleston Bottom. Jacova Bacon, Tuckahoe. Della Goodwin, Mary E. Dickson, Springdale. Ben Kidwell, Kittie McDowell, Sardis. C. J. Roberts, Shannon.

Eva Williams, Tangletown. Herman Donovan, Northfork. R. J. Souley, Peed. Truman T. Hill, Martha Hall, Germantown. Ollie M. Bramel, Paul Caryell, Orangeburg. Alma Galbreath, Mayslick. Mrs. M. P. Hickman, Flora Stairs, Dover. Minnie B. Dobyne, Anna Greenlee, Minerva. A. G. Stewart, Julia Worthington, Murphyville.

Belle Golling, Jessie O. Yancey, Linda Tuggle, Laura Crosby, Geneva Peirce, Mary Rubenacker, Daisy G. Greenwood, Mae Roberts, Jessie E. Allison, Nannie Tucker, Elizabeth Cartmell, Clarence Martin, W. P. King, J. A. Nash, Henry L. Beckett, G. H. Turnipseed, W. T. Berry, Florence Wilson, Anna F. Ball, Maysville.

Miss Charity Dye of Indianapolis was introduced by Mr. Wells, who, in a few happy words, expressed her pleasure in being permitted to be associated this week with the teachers of her old home county in their noble work.

Prof. R. M. Shipp was then introduced, which, by the way, was largely a matter of formality, as Prof. Shipp has on several occasions in the last few years been an instructor in the Mason County Institute and really needed no introduction.

Prof. Shipp, in a speech of about thirty minutes, very plainly outlined what he expected to do during the week and what he expected of each teacher who was present for the purpose of helping and being helped.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

In the afternoon additional teachers enrolled were: Sallie Burrows, Eleanor P. Wallace, Allie Wells and Ella B. Metcalfe, Maysville; Mattie Clift, Minerva; Octavia Cassidy, Flemingsburg; Nancye Kennan and Fannie Roe, Orangeburg.

The afternoon session began at 1:30 with the singing of "I Will Follow On."

Prof. Shipp gave a very pleasing talk on the importance of little things, with practical illustrations on the blackboard.

Miss Dye then spoke interestingly on "Story Telling," showing its place in the scheme of education in such a way as to leave no doubt in the mind of a single person present that she was perfectly at home with the subject.

A short recess was taken, the session reopening with the song, "To the Work."

Miss McDowell, Miss Yancey and Miss Goodwin presented some thoughts on "Reading."

The subject was then taken up by Prof. Shipp, who, in a very thought-provoking manner, handled some phases of this all-important subject.

Mr. Vincent, the representative of the Southern School Journal and a number of other educational papers, was given an opportunity to present the claims of his publications.

The Institute then adjourned to re-convene at 9 o'clock this morning.

Rev. R. E. Moss and George Schwartz were among the visitors during the afternoon.
